LEGENDS & TALES

To discover all the treasures of the forest, you will need good shoes and more than a day! We also advise you to be well accompanied, not only to avoid the traps of the korrigans, but also and above all to enter the magical world of Brocéliande. To do this, our storytellers will guide you between legend and reality, to the point where you sometimes no longer know where the boundary between the two lies. And just like that, in the blink of an eye, the thousands of korrigan tears turn into streams and the blood of the fairies gives the forest floor its purple colour. If that's not magic, what is?

The Arthurian Fantasy Center

Comper Castle, which according to legend was built by the goddess Diana, mother of Viviane, is now a temple to the legends of the Round Table, housing the Centre de l'Imaginaire Arthurien (Arthurian Imagination Centre). The story goes that at the bottom of its pond, you can see the crystal palace given by Merlin to his favourite fairy, the Lady of the Lake. Every year, art exhibitions and scenography, workshops, conferences, storytelling walks (and much more) take place in Concoret to bring these heroes and mythical creatures to life.

For more than 35 years, the storytellers and artists of the Arthurian Fantasy Center have been making you laugh, dream and sometimes even shiver with their unbridled passion.

THE FOREST OF BROCÉLIANDE

Before being an enchanting place, our beautiful forest is above all a remarkable natural space, offering a veritable mosaic of landscapes shaped by human activity! The numerous ponds that dot it, for example, were dug for metallurgical activities, of which the Paimpont forges are a legacy. The high forest, moors, ponds and peat bogs are all varied spaces that have allowed the development of an incredible biodiversity, which is recognised and protected.

In the forest, there is a balance between the many activities. In agreement with the forest owners, access is open to walkers during spring and summer but is restricted in autumn and winter to facilitate forestry operations.

In order to preserve this balance, it is essential to respect the area and follow the rules. We invite you to visit our tourist offices to find out more about the advice and best practices to ensure you have a fantastic visit.

◆ HERE: tips for hikers
and best practices!

DID YOU KNOW?

Paimpont Forest or the Forest of Brocéliande? Both names are correct! Texts from Arthurian legend have helped to locate the Forest of Brocéliande in the Paimpont massif. In short, we could say that the Forest of Paimpont is the 'real' forest, while the Forest of Brocéliande is the 'imaginary' forest!

Hindrés Oak Tree

REMARKABLE TREES

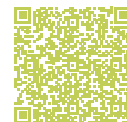

Entering the Forest of Brocéliande means encountering its trees and the magical atmosphere they create. Looking up, you will see that many of them have made remarkable efforts to grow, sometimes twisting in all directions! Among the hundreds of thousands of trees you will encounter during your walk in the Forest of Brocéliande, some are even more 'remarkable' due to their size, age or history, such as the Guillotin Oak, the Pas aux Biches Chestnut Tree and the Hindrés Oak.

One of the most surprising, in terms of its symbolism, is undoubtedly the Golden Tree. A work of art created by François Davin in 1991, it stands at the entrance of the Valley of no Return in Tréhorenteuc as a reminder of a terrible fire that devastated more than 400 hectares of moorland. There is no magic here, but a beautiful metaphor: rebirth from the ashes.

To discover the LEGENDARY STORIES behind the Pas aux Biches Chestnut Tree, the Guillotin Oak, and the Hindrés Oak, ◆ IT'S HERE!

THE AFF VALLEY

At the edge of this mysterious forest, in Beignon, flows the peaceful Aff River. In this valley, nature reigns supreme and legend is never far away. Before discovering the stories hidden along the Lancelot trail, let's immerse ourselves in this lush natural environment where you will discover the Affollettes garden, among other things. Designed by an enthusiast, exploring it will be full of surprises and a change of scenery. Let yourself be carried away by the scent of hundreds of rhododendrons and try to guess the faces drawn in the rock.

NATURE WALKS

The guides at the Permanent Centre for Environmental Initiatives in Brocéliande will accompany you and share their knowledge during free nature outings, storytelling walks and conferences. In Concoret, take the time to explore the Chemin Buissonnier trail they have created to discover the local flora and fauna.

To experience Brocéliande's rich and living culture, don't miss the Biodiversity Festival, held from 5 April to 1 May on the theme "Health and Biodiversity." It will be followed by the traditional local produce and craft market on 1 May, where over 150 artisans, producers and associations will showcase the region's creativity and commitment.

FOCUS ON NATURA 2000

Paimpont is part of the European programme for the preservation of biodiversity. So, when you visit the forest, take the opportunity to observe this incredible biodiversity, recognised and protected by the NATURA 2000 network.

We all know the animals of the forest: deer, foxes, wild boars! But others, more discreet, are also worth seeing! Bats, for example, could be the emblematic mammal of Brocéliande! There are six species in the forest. Other species also thrive in this area, including the crested newt, the stag beetle and the great capricorn beetle, all of which are recognised as being of European interest.

OF STONES AND STORIES

Brocéliande is a crossroads open to the world, a place where ancient paths converge and human activity has long been present. Several buildings bear witness to this rich past. Discovering them means discovering many stories within the greater history of the Forest.

THE PAIMPONT FORGES

'Practice makes perfect.' But how does this saying apply to Paimpont? It's quite logical: a subsoil rich in ore, trees to produce charcoal, water to power the machines... and that's how metallurgy left its mark on the forest. The Paimpont Forges built the reputation of Brocéliande iron.

Today, the owners put their heart and soul into their work to bring these three centuries of hard labour, inherited from their ancestors, back to life.

During a guided tour, or while taking part in one of the two treasure hunts, take a moment to listen and imagine the sounds of the past as you explore the old rolling mill and blast furnace.

TRÉCESSON CASTLE

Surrounded by a mirror of water and built of red schist, Trécesson Castle is the jewel of Brocéliande. Its medieval appearance and enchanting reflection on the water make it very photogenic and a real selfie spot.

For those who have always dreamed of life in a castle, it's possible to stay in one of the farm's charming holiday cottages.

And every summer, the castle opens its doors for self-guided or guided tours and a virtual animation called 'Defermon', which traces the history of this character who hid in Trécesson during the Reign of Terror. The castle is also a very lively place with shows and entertainment: jousting tournaments and educational activities on falconry.

◆ New for 2025: a national Behourd tournament (medieval combat sport) on 7 June, an art exhibition, a giant game of Cluedo and a treasure map. Information: trecession.fr

THE GRAIL CHURCH

The Forest of Brocéliande is home to the only church in the world dedicated to the legend of the Holy Grail. Simple and unadorned, clad in purple schist, it brings together, through the determination of an extraordinary priest, Abbé Gillard, who restored it in 1942, the memory of the Celts, the Christian religion and tales of chivalry. In the heart of the village of Tréhourentec, it offers a truly exceptional mythical and mystical experience. Passing through the door of this sanctuary is like stepping into the real adventure that Brocéliande has to offer, but will you be able to decipher all these symbols?

Self-guided or guided tours available upon reservation.

DID YOU KNOW?

You can see it in Paimpont and Tréhourentec, but also in Concoret, Campénéac, Plélan-le-Grand and Saint-Péran. It's everywhere! What is it? Purple schist! This red stone, emblematic of the Brocéliande forest, is omnipresent. On houses, castles, churches and village walls, it is a true hallmark of Brocéliande!

PAIMPONT ABBEY

According to legend, the first religious community was founded in the 7th century by Saint Judicaël. Today, the abbey is one of the most imposing religious buildings in the Brocéliande region... Step inside this place steeped in history and spirituality. Admire its wooden beams, statues, pulpits and altarpieces; wood is omnipresent. Its presence bears witness to the abbey's past. It is the wood that makes the abbey a unique place... It is open to visitors all year round. And during the summer, you can admire the abbey's magnificent treasure!

PAIMPONT

Surrounded by the Forest of Brocéliande, the village of Paimpont is remarkable for its heritage: the 13th-century abbey on the edge of the lake, its typical houses built of red schist stone, a sign of the presence of iron in Brocéliande. It has a very special atmosphere, combining charm and authenticity.

Around the lake, a poetic stroll in the heart of nature awaits you. We recommend taking this walk at sunrise when the mist lifts to reveal the colours of nature.

After visiting 'Brocéliande, The Gate of Secrets', discover the many shops in Paimpont and meet the artists and craftspeople who draw their inspiration from the forest.

To continue your exploration of the village, step inside the church. This church has not always looked the way it does today. Designed in a Roman-Byzantine style by architect Arthur Regnault, it was built to replace the old church. Its unusual architecture is particularly highlighted by the presence of a Gothic vaulted ceiling, which makes it truly unique... On certain Tuesdays during Maxent-Fête, the church is the starting point for storytelling walks organised by the association to discover the tales of Maxent.
